Digital Investigations

CornerStone acquires and preserves data from computers, removable devices, network shares and mobile devices such as cell phones, tablets, etc... If you need to conduct an efficient, forensically-sound data collection and investigation using a repeatable and defensible process, CornerStone can help.

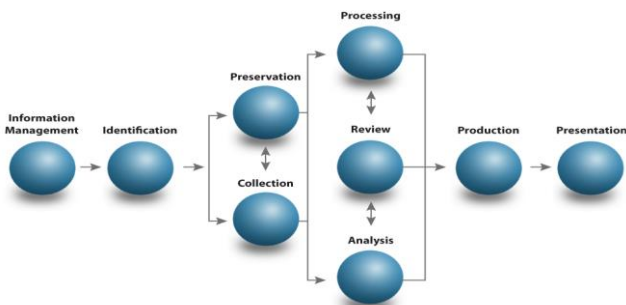

CornerStone also offers remote data collection across the wire. This option can save time and money when an on-site forensic analyst is unnecessary. With a pre-programmed collection box CornerStone can handle an acquisition remotely and with very little user interaction. All of the benefits of being forensically sound and defensible for less.

Court Reporting & Videography

Cornerstone Court Reporters provide exceptional Court Reporting, video, and all litigation support services for Texas and throughout the United States. Verbatim transcripts of Depositions, Hearings and Trials are provided expeditiously and expertly nationwide. We employ quality court reporters and video technicians who deliver unsurpassed service nationwide; utilizing the most current technologies: real-time court reporting, video/audio/text internet streaming, HD Video Conferencing, remote real-time technology and video text synchronization.

Paper Discovery

Whether you need an exact copy of a box of files or a dozen contracts imaged or OCR images, you need a company that can help you capture, access, and control your documents. Cornerstone understands the document requirements of the legal system and offers complete legal document management assistance as well as practice support including traditional digital reprographics, imaging & coding, and high speed blow-backs.
